

Belararox Limited
Whistle-blower Policy

Adopted by the Board on 31 August 2021

1. POLICY STATEMENT

Belararox Limited (Belararox) is committed to doing business in an honest and ethical manner. Belararox and any subsidiaries require all of its directors, officers and employees to observe high standards of business conducts and ethics, as well as full compliance with all applicable government laws, rules and regulations, corporate reporting and disclosure, accounting practices, accounting controls, auditing practices and other matters relating to fraud against shareholders.

A key test of Belararox's corporate governance status is whether there are both formal and informal structures in place to enable good news and bad news to travel rapidly to the appropriate destination.

To ensure that Belararox can meet this, we offer protection for individuals who report behaviour under this whistle-blower policy (Policy) and will ensure that such individuals are without fear of intimidation, disadvantage or reprisal.

Unless otherwise stated, all capitalised terms in this Policy have the meaning given to that term in the Glossary.

2. PURPOSE OF THIS POLICY

The purpose of this Policy is to:

- (a) support Belararox's values and the Code of Conduct and to protect Belararox's long-term reputation;
- (b) provide you with an understanding of the types of behaviour and/or conduct that can be reported under this Policy;
- (c) explain the processes and procedures for reporting under this Policy. This includes information about who you can report to, what happens when you make a disclosure and the investigation process;
- (d) inform you about the protections available to you under this Policy and the law and who is eligible to benefit from such protections;
- (e) demonstrate how Belararox will ensure a safe and supportive environment for those that disclose breaches relating to Belararox, including how we will ensure your fair treatment in the working environment; and

- (c) Continuous Disclosure Policy;
- (d) Shareholder Communications Policy; and

4. PROTECTED DISCLOSURE

4.1 Reportable Conduct

The Policy is provided as a practical tool for helping Belararox to identify wrongdoing that may not be uncovered unless there is a safe and secure means for disclosing such wrongdoing.

Belararox expects and encourages individuals who become aware on reasonable grounds of circumstances of Reportable Conduct involving Belararox to initiate disclosure under this Policy.

You may make disclosure under this Policy if you have reasonable grounds to suspect that a Belararox director, officer, employee, contractor, supplier, tenderer or a related person of Belararox has engaged in conduct that is related to the misconduct or an improper state of affairs or circumstances implicating Belararox.

Reasonable grounds means that a reasonable person in your same position would suspect the information indicates that person involved with Belararox has engaged in conduct that is related to misconduct, an improper state of affairs or a breach of the law. A mere allegation with no supporting information is not likely to be considered as reasonable grounds, however a Whistle-blower does not need to prove their allegations and can still qualify for protection even if their disclosure turns out to be incorrect.

Reportable Conduct includes behaviour or conduct that constitutes:

- (a) an offence against, or a contravention of, the Corporations Legislation;
- (b) an offence against any other law of the Commonwealth that is punishable by imprisonment for a period of 12 months or more;
- (c) dishonest, fraudulent, or corrupt behaviour including insider trading, insolvent trading, and failure to comply with statutory accounting and reporting requirements;

¹ As at date of policy there are no Regulations in place in relation to the Australian Whistle-blower Laws.

- (d) illegal activities including breaches of state and federal criminal and/or civil legislation, harassment or intimidation, money laundering offences, terrorism financing, falsification of accounts and exploitation of legal loopholes;
- (e) unethical behaviour or behaviour that is otherwise in breach of the Code of Conduct, the Risk Management Policy or other Belararox policies. This includes inconsistencies in internal recording systems, alterations to company documents, abuse of authority and breaches of directors' duties;
- (f) behaviour that may cause financial or non-financial damage to Belararox or damage to Belararox's reputation, including abuse of property and environment;
- (g) behaviour that endangers or may endanger the health and safety of individuals such as the presence of improper work practices;
- (h) unlawful harassment, coercion, discrimination, victimisation or bullying that does not form part of a work-related grievance excluded under this Policy;
- (i) a danger to the public or the financial system, including conduct that indicates a significant risk to public safety or the stability of those systems even if it does not involve a breach of a particular law; and
- (j) a matter prescribed by the Regulations.²

4.2 Personal work-related grievances

Personal work-related grievances relate to circumstances related to your employment that tend to have implications for you personally but do not have any significant implications for Belararox or relate to conduct that would qualify as Reportable Conduct.

Personal work-related grievances should be raised with your manager or supervisor at first instance however, such grievances may not be protected under this Policy. For example, disclosing an interpersonal conflict or workplace decisions that do not involve a breach of workplace laws are unlikely to be protected under this Policy. On the other hand, personal work-related grievances will be protected under this Policy if:

- (a) it includes information about misconduct, or information about misconduct includes or is accompanied by a personal work-related grievance (i.e. mixed disclosure);
- (b) the Whistle-blower seeks legal advice or representation about the operation of this Policy and the Whistle-blower protections under the Australian Whistle-blower Laws;
- (c) the grievance has significant implications for the Company (or any other company) that does not relate to the Whistle-blower;
- (d) the Whistle-blower suffers from or is threatened with detriment for making a disclosure; or
- (e) the disclosure relates to conduct referred to in sections 4.1(a), (b), (i) and (j).

4.3 False disclosures

It is important to note that false disclosures could have significant effects on Belararox's reputation and the reputations of its directors, officers and employees and could also cause a considerable waste of resources. Any deliberate false reporting of purported Protected Disclosures will not qualify for protection under this Policy and will be treated as a serious disciplinary matter.

² As at date of policy there are no Regulations in place in relation to the Australian Whistle-blower Laws.

5. DISCLOSURE OF REPORTABLE CONDUCT: MAKING A REPORT

5.1 Avenues for reporting

There are several avenues for you to make disclosure if you become aware of any behaviour that you consider on reasonable grounds to be Reportable Conduct under this Policy. In order to rely upon the whistle-blower protections, you must make a disclosure directly to an Eligible Recipient as set out in this section. It is the responsibility of the Whistle-blower to ensure that any Reportable Conduct is made to a person or party that satisfies the requirements of an Eligible Recipient.

A Whistle-blower qualifies for protection under this Policy and the Australian Whistle-blower Law from the time they make the disclosure, regardless of whether the Whistle-blower or the Eligible Recipient is aware that the disclosure qualifies for protection.

In order to identify and address wrongdoing as early as possible, Belararox encourages Whistle-blowers to discuss and report your concerns to your direct manager or supervisor. If you feel unable to raise the Reportable Conduct with your direct manager or supervisor, you are entitled to discuss and report your concerns to other Eligible Recipients.

5.2 Remaining anonymous

Whistle-blowers always have the option to remain anonymous when making disclosure to any of the Eligible Recipients and will be subject to the protections of section 7 of this Policy.

If a disclosure comes from an email address from which the person's identity cannot be determined, and the discloser does not identify themselves in the email, it will still be treated as an anonymous disclosure. While the Company will not investigate the identity of a Whistle-blower of an anonymous Protected Disclosure, it is the Whistle-blower's obligation to manage their anonymity in submitting a Protected Disclosure anonymously. Neither the Company, its officers or employees nor the Authorised Protected Disclosure Officer shall be liable if the Whistle-blower's identity is, or becomes, readily ascertainable.

If a Whistle-blower chooses to disclose Reportable Conduct anonymously, this may hinder the ability of the Company to fully investigate the matter. Accordingly, the Company encourages Whistle-blowers to provide contact details to assist in any investigation into the matter.

5.3 Report to an Eligible Recipient within Belararox

A Whistle-blower may make a disclosure to Eligible Recipients within Belararox, including:

- (a) the directors, secretary, senior manager or any persons that can make or participate in decision affecting the business of Belararox or its subsidiaries;
- (b) Authorised Protected Disclosure Officers; and
- (c) in the case of disclosure regarding taxation matters, our internal accountants.

Belararox encourages you to disclose the Reportable Conduct to Belararox's Authorised Protected Disclosure Officer, the Company Secretary via email at whistleblower@belararox.com.au.

Whistle-blowers may also send their concerns by post to the Company's Authorised Protected Disclosure Officer to the Company's registered office address. All disclosure submitted by mail should be marked attention to the relevant Authorised Protected Disclosure Officer.

5.4 Other avenues for reporting outside of Belararox

6. INVESTIGATIVE PROCESS

Belararox will investigate all matters the subject of a disclosure as soon as practicable after the disclosure has been received by Belararox. Upon receipt of a report, Belararox will assess whether the disclosure received falls within the scope of the Policy and requires a formal, in-depth investigation.

6.1 Investigation

If an investigation is required, then Belararox will determine:

- (a) the nature and scope of the investigation, including whether to conduct an internal investigation or appoint an independent external third party;
- (b) the person(s) that should lead the investigation;
- (c) the nature of any technical, financial or legal advice that may be required to support the investigation;
- (d) the timeframe of the investigation; and
- (e) handle the disclosure and any investigation confidentially, when it is practical and appropriate.

Belararox will endeavour to investigate all disclosures raised under this Policy in a thorough, objective, fair and independent manner, having regard to the nature of the alleged Reportable

⁴ As at date of policy there are no Regulations in place in relation to the Australian Whistle-blower Laws.

Conduct however Belararox acknowledges that there may be practical limitations where the Whistle-blower does not disclose their identity. Where the report has been made anonymously, Belararox will investigate based on the information provided.

The nature of the investigation report (and whether it will be available to the discloser) will be assessed on a case by case basis according to the nature and circumstances of the allegation.

Where appropriate, the Whistle-blower will be advised on the progress of the report and investigation. With your consent Belararox may also allocate a support person for you within the organisation. Belararox strongly enforces the protections outlined in section 7 below.

During the course of the investigation, management will determine whether to stand down the person against whom the allegations have been made until the issue is resolved.

6.2 Keeping the discloser informed

Each disclosure will be acknowledged within a reasonable period after received provided the discloser can be contacted.

Belararox endeavours to provide each Whistle-blower with updates at various stages of the investigation process but will do so on an ad hoc basis.

6.3 Record keeping and information sharing procedures

To ensure confidentiality in accordance with section 7.2 below, Belararox has implemented record keeping and information sharing procedures to ensure:

- (a) all paper and electronic documents and other materials relating to the disclosures and investigations (if any) are stored securely;
- (b) all information relating to a disclosure or investigation (if any) can only be accessed by those directly involved in managing and investigating;
- (c) only a restricted number of people who are directly involved in handling and investigating a disclosure are made aware of a discloser's identity or information that is likely to lead to the identification of the discloser; and
- (d) communication and documents relating to an investigation are not sent to an email address or printer that can be accessed by other staff.

The unauthorised release of information without the Whistle-blower's consent to any person not involved in the investigation (other than the Board) is a breach of this Policy, subject to any requirements of applicable law.

7. COMPANY SUPPORT AND FAIR TREATMENT OF EMPLOYEES

Belararox will ensure your confidentiality in respect to all matters raised under this Policy. In all circumstances, Belararox is committed to ensuring that individuals that make a disclosure will be treated fairly and will not suffer any detriment.

Whistle-blowers that make Protected Disclosure must not be personally disadvantaged by dismissal, demotion, any form of harassment, discrimination or current or future bias or unfavourable treatment as a result of submitting a Protected Disclosure.

If a Whistle-blower is subjected to unfavourable treatment as a result of submitting a Protected Disclosure, the Whistle-blower should inform an Authorised Protected Disclosure Officer immediately.

7.1 Protection against detrimental conduct and/or victimisation

In accordance with our Code of Conduct, Belararox is committed to ensuring you are protected against any detrimental conduct in your employment or relationship with the company. Belararox will take all reasonable steps to protect individual Whistle-blowers against retaliation. This may involve gathering information from the Whistle-blower regarding:

- (a) the risk of their identity becoming known;
- (b) who they fear might cause detriment to them;
- (c) whether they are any existing conflicts or problems in the work place; and
- (d) whether there have already been threats to cause detriment.

Examples of detrimental treatment you will be protected from includes dismissal, termination of employment, demotion, harassment, discrimination, disciplinary action, unlawful discrimination, bias, threats or other unfavourable treatment connected with making a disclosure.

If you experience any detrimental treatment as a result of making a report or disclosing behaviour under this Policy, or you are concerned about how the Policy has been applied to you, Belararox encourages you to inform an Authorised Protection Disclosure Officer or any other officer or senior manager of Belararox.

Belararox takes any breach of this Policy seriously and any breach or unfair treatment of a Whistle-blower will result in disciplinary actions against the offenders. However, Belararox retains the ability to raise matters outside of the disclosure made by the Whistle-blower that arise in the ordinary course of their employment or engagement. For example, ordinary performance reviews/management or unrelated misconduct concerns.

A Whistle-blower is entitled to seek compensation and other remedies through the courts if they suffer loss, damage or injury because of their Protected Disclosure and Belararox failed to take reasonable precautions and exercise due diligence to prevent the detrimental conduct. Belararox encourages Whistle-blowers to seek independent legal advice first.

7.2 Protection of your identity and confidentiality

Information received from the Whistle-blower (or information that could lead to identification of the Whistle-blower) will be treated strictly as confidential and will not be shared unless the Whistle-blower has provided consent (in writing), Belararox is required or compelled by law to do so or it is appropriate to disclose the information to a regulator under legislation.

Belararox will ensure that, where it is required to investigate a disclosure, it will take reasonable steps to reduce the risk of revealing the identity of the Whistle-blower. Any disclosure of information that may lead to the identity of the Whistle-blower being disclosed will be made on a strict confidential basis.

All files, investigations and disclosures will be retained in a secure location. Where this information is unauthorised and released to persons not directly involved, it will be a breach of this Policy.

Once a disclosure is received under this Policy, subject to any legal obligations, Belararox will only reveal the identity of a Whistle-blower or information likely to identify a Whistle-blower if:

- (a) the Whistle-blower consents to disclosure of their identity;
- (b) it is reasonably necessary for the effective investigation of the matter (although all steps will be taken to reduce the risk of revealing the Whistle-blower's identity);

- (c) the concern is reported to ASIC, APRA or the Australian Federal Police;
- (d) the concern is reported to the Commissioner of Taxation if the disclosure relates to the tax affairs of Belarox or an Associate of Belarox; or
- (e) raised with a legal practitioner for the purpose of obtaining legal advice or legal representation about the operation of the Australian Whistle-blower Laws.

No person at Belarox may disclose or produce to a court or tribunal any information or documents which discloses the identity of a Whistle-blower (or is likely to reveal the identity of the Whistle-blower) without seeking the advice of counsel.

Breaches of confidentiality or release of information under this Policy will be taken extremely seriously and will be subject to the disciplinary processes of Belarox. Further, any individual or entity who discloses the identity of a Whistle-blower who has elected to remain anonymous faces criminal penalties, civil penalties as well as disciplinary proceedings. To lodge a complaint about a breach of confidentiality, a Whistle-blower may contact the Company Secretary or the Chairman at Belarox or contact an outside regulator, such as ASIC, APRA or the ATO.

Further protections are provided under the Australian Whistle-blower Laws subject to certain conditions being met.

For more information about these laws, see the information available on the ASIC website (at Information Sheet 238 Whistle-blower rights and protections (INFO 238)) and the ATO website (at <https://www.ato.gov.au/general/gen/whistleblowers/>).

7.3 Protections under the Corporations Act

The Corporations Act provides certain immunities where the individual is a Whistle-blower and has reasonable grounds to suspect the information disclosed concerns misconduct or an improper state of affairs relating to Belarox or any of its subsidiaries. A disclosure must be made to one of the Eligible Recipients outlined in this Policy.

Where these circumstances exist, the following protections will apply:

- (a) the individual Whistle-blower is immune from any civil, criminal or administrative legal action for making the disclosure, including disciplinary action relating to the conduct of making the disclosure;
- (b) no contractual or other remedy may be enforced, and no contractual or other right may be exercised, against the person on the basis of the disclosure;
- (c) subject to certain conditions, information reported is not admissible in evidence in criminal proceedings or those involving a penalty against the Whistle-blower except in relation to false information;
- (d) anyone who causes or threatens to cause detriment to a Whistle-blower or another due to a report or belief that a report has been made, may be guilty of an offence and may be liable for damages; and
- (e) subject to limited exceptions summarised in this Policy, the person to whom the Protected Disclosure is made must not disclose the substance of the Protected Disclosure, the Whistle-blower's identity or information likely to lead to identification of the Whistle-blower.

If the person receiving the Protected Disclosure discloses the substance or identity of the Whistle-blower or the report without consent, to anyone except ASIC, APRA, the Australian Federal Police or a legal practitioner, they will commit an offence.

7.4 Protections under the Taxation Administration Act

Where disclosure is made in accordance with the Taxation Administration Act, a Whistle-blower will be protected by certain immunities provided for under that Act. The protections include the following:

- (a) the Whistle-blower is not subject to any civil, criminal or administrative liability (including disciplinary action) for making the disclosure;
- (b) no contractual or other remedies may be enforced, and no contractual or other right may be exercised, against the Whistle-blower for making the disclosure;
- (c) where the disclosure was made to the Commissioner of Taxation, the reported information is not admissible against the Whistle-blower in criminal proceedings or in proceedings for the imposition of a penalty, except where the proceedings are concerned with whether the information is false;
- (d) unless the Whistle-blower has acted unreasonably, a Whistle-blower cannot be ordered to pay costs in any legal proceedings in relation to a disclosure;
- (e) anyone who causes or threatens to cause detriment to a Whistle-blower or another person in the belief or suspicion that a report has been made, or may have been made, proposes to or could be made, may be guilty of an offence and liable to pay damages;
- (f) a Whistle-blower's identity cannot be disclosed to a Court or tribunal except where considered necessary; and
- (g) the person receiving the disclosure commits an offence if they disclose the substance of the disclosure or the Whistle-blower's identity, without the Whistle-blower's consent, to anyone except the Commissioner of Taxation, the Australian Federal Police or a legal practitioner for the purpose of obtaining legal advice or representation in relation to the disclosure.

7.5 Protections do not extend to the Whistle-blower's conduct

Despite the protections for making a disclosure in section 7.3 and 7.4 above, the Whistle-blower is not protected from civil, criminal, contractual or administrative liability (including disciplinary action) for any of his or her conduct which may be revealed in connection with the Reportable Conduct the subject of the Protected Disclosure (other than the conduct of making the disclosure itself). However, if the Whistle-blower discloses such conduct and actively cooperates in the investigation in which they may be implicated, there may be some cases where the fact they have made a report will be taken into account as a mitigating factor when determining actions which may be taken against them.
