Argentine Operations Underway Directors Visit to Argentina

Key Highlights

- BRX operations in Argentina fully established following a visit to Argentina by Managing Director Arvind Misra and Exploration Director Jason Ward and meetings with key Government officials, contractors, and the Condor Exploration Team involved with the Toro-Malambo-Tambo (“TMT”) Project.
- Exploration Director Jason Ward has moved to Argentina to oversee the TMT Project
- GWK SA board reorganised with Jason Ward nominated as President (CEO equivalent), Arvind Misra as Chairman and Juan Cruz Cardoso as director. GWK SA is 100% owned Argentinian subsidiary of Belararox.
- Earthworks Contractors have mobilised to the TMT Project with road rehabilitation well underway.
- BRX through its subsidiary GWK SA has established a new office in San Juan, Argentina and has appointed several key staff members on a full-time basis to oversee the execution and management of the TMT exploration program.

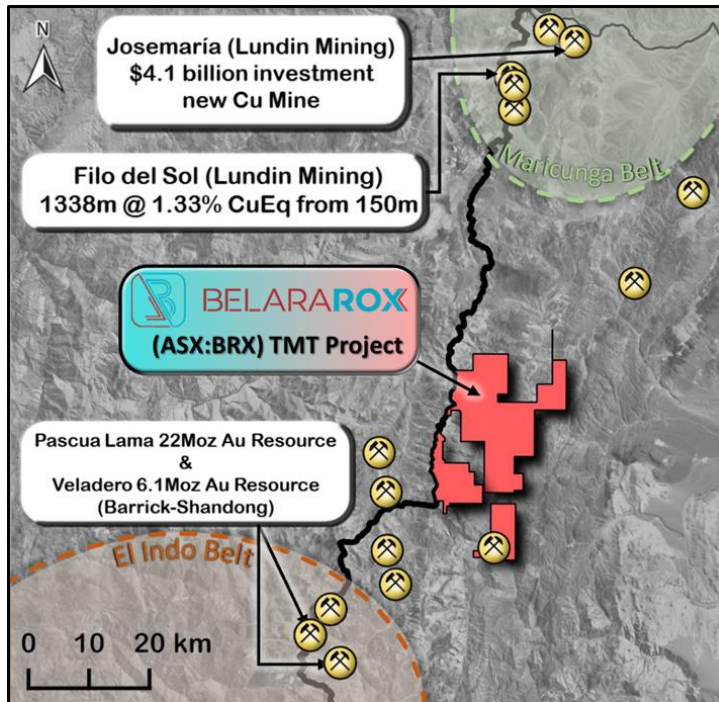

Belararox Ltd (ASX:BRX) (Belararox or the Company), an advanced mineral explorer focused on high-value clean energy metals, is pleased to announce that Managing Director Arvind Misra has travelled to Argentina, visiting Buenos Aries, Mendoza, San Juan, and the Toro target at the TMT Project. Exploration Director Jason Ward has moved permanently to Argentina to oversee the TMT Project.

During the visit BRX directors made arrangements to meet and build relationships with key leaders and stakeholders of the exploration and mining sector within Argentina.

Managing Director Arvind Misra commented on the visit –

“BRX’s operations are now firmly established after productive meetings with government officials, contractors, and the Condor Exploration Team. Jason Ward’s presence in Argentina to oversee the TMT Project signifies our commitment. The GWK SA board restructure and earthworks progress are key highlights, and our new office in San Juan is poised for success. Our interactions with government officials underscore their unwavering support for our endeavors. Exciting times ahead for BRX in Argentina.”

TMT Project – Geological Context for Discovery

The TMT project is located Argentina, near the Chile-Argentina border in an area where exploration activities have been closing the underexplored gap between the [i] El Indo Metallogenic Belt, which contains the Veladero and Pascua Lima deposits, and the [ii] Maricunga Metallogenic Belt, which contains the Filo del Sol and Josemaria deposits (refer to Figure 1).

The meetings with Government officials including the Minister for Mining of San Juan Carlos Astudillo, Governor Elect of San Juan Marcelo Orrego, and Australian Ambassador to Argentina Simon Twisk, proved to be exceptionally constructive. We were pleased to witness their genuine appreciation for our company's investment in San Juan, with the employment and engagement of Argentineans to support the proposed exploration activities, together with Government Officials offering their unwavering commitment to providing full support.

Key Government Stakeholders displayed an eagerness to assist BRX in executing its strategic initiatives in the prolific Valle Del Cura region of San Juan province which was heartening and aligns perfectly with our mission to drive sustainable growth and development in the area. We look forward to a fruitful collaboration with stakeholders that will benefit both our organization and the local community.

These meetings were a good indication that our remaining Environmental Impact Assessments ("EIA's") and other approvals required in the future will receive efficient and timely approvals.

Our meeting with Ricardo Martinez, the Chair of the San Juan Chamber of Mining, proved to be highly constructive. Ricardo graciously guided us to a network of valuable mining suppliers and shared his positive feedback regarding the promising outlook of the TMT project.
